Helping Students be Productive and Well

About Dr. Jeannine Jannot

Dr. Jannot has a doctorate in child and developmental psychology and a master's degree in school psychology. She has over 30 years of experience working with children, teenagers and young adults in both public and private school settings, from preschool through college. She taught psychology courses for 10 years at Georgia State University and is the author of The Disintegrating Student: Struggling But Smart, Falling Apart, & How To Turn It Around. Dr. Jannot is passionate about identifying the root causes of issues that may be holding students back, and customizing strategies to achieve success—with an emphasis on physical and mental wellness, and how their parents can provide the support necessary.
